Hi. You can say it's a relaunch but meanwhile Atencoin, now AMLBitcoin has always continued to develop on both technical and regulatory grounds and internationally.

Activity: 1372

Until now is the time to present it as AMLBitcoin since it is ready to be adopted by more businesses and cooperations that require AML/KYC systems in place.

Today an article was posted that can explain why we need to worry about AML/KYC regulations. This is valid for all countries where governments will put registration in place no matter what altcoin or cryptocurrency is created.

The key to overcoming the AML challenge in crypto-currency <https://bravenewcoin.com/news/the-key-to-overcoming-the-aml-challenge-in-crypto-currency/>

I will develop OP and copy it there when I can post pictures on the brand new account.

Since this is a rebranding coins, then I wish to ask few things.

1. Is this project will be continuing the previous project?
2. Will this open for a new ICO?
3. Will there be any bounty opening ?

1. Yes, it's an ongoing project.
2. Details of a preSale of AML Bitcoins will be made available soon.
3. Yes, for example we will be looking for ambassadors that are willing to translate into local threads but also reply and keep an eye on it for updates. Other bounties may come available later.

I can add that AML Bitcoin will give developers the opportunity to create smart contracts.

Why is the Aten Coin "Black Gold" renamed to AMLBitcoin ??

Atencoin's startingpoint had a focus on creating a market for Atencoin by contracting oilcompanies, hence the name Black Gold.
For this to be possible Atencoin had to be able to transact on a banking level with maximum security in place.

Now AML/KYC compliance is the most important feature and AMLBitcoin represents this.

There is no system change, rather it's an ongoing development and AMLBitcoin is now reaching out to any type of businesses, organisations but also the general public willing to participate with banking on the blockchain.

AMLBitcoin may not be anonymous, but why would it, there are dozens of altcoins that have this focus and we still have Bitcoin. Bitcoin is about being your own bank but it does not comply on a banking level. Now you can become your own bank, have your account on your personal computer and transact with the same legitimacy as a banktransfer.

When we're ready for translations I will post. But we'd like not just a translation but someone that can keep the thread alive and post updates from the main account as well and optional PR from mediarelease. Alternatively we could ask to post the translations on the most important forums in your county, then we can add to the bounty.

So if you ask for position as translator please consider if you are willing to do that regularly.

Thanks it's appreciated. Others are welcome to post it in their local thread as well. You can even create your own design and content for how you think it should look.

Content sources can be old thread as well but with namechange to AMLBitcoin. Other content or info is on AMLBitcoin.com and social media mainly on Twitter: @AMLBitcoin

Once AMLbitcoins can be given away I will create bounties. If your thread or design is best we can put it on top here in english, we could make it a contest for local posters/ambassadors and give a bonus, that makes some competition and improves the ANN.

Lotto56.

Hello Lotto and welcome.

We can't use the term ico, instead it will be a presale of AML tokens.

AML Tokens is what will be issued, then at a later date the AML Tokens will be converted to AML Bitcoins.

It is best to wait with the documents until the presale of tokens starts.

AML Tokens can be purchased from: Oct 1st - Nov 15th

Thanks AML BITCOIN for your speedy response, i have a few more questions:

1. Will we be able to purchase AML TOKENS with FIAT CURRENCY?.

2. Can anyone participate (limited resources) or is it open only to the WEALTHY?.

3. Is there a minimum per token for the PRESALE?.

Take care,

1. It will depend on the platform where you were to purchase. More specific news about this next week.
2. It is open to anyone to participate. Since the project is AML/KYC compliant you will need to ID just like you would need to when opening a bankaccount.
3. Possible minimum could well be $1 but I do not know the minimal limits on exchanges/platforms.

AML Bitcoin is the Future of Digital Currency

The Daily Caller reported over the weekend about "sources on the Hill told the D.C. said various members of Congress are looking at the compliant capabilities of AML Bitcoin, which is a compliant digital currency. Bitcoin is the most famous digital currency, or crypto-currency, and has skyrocketed in value over the past few weeks." A digital currency that is compliant with anti-money laundering laws would bring the digital currency for services and product transactions into the mainstream of American life.

Former Panamanian Ambassador to the United States Joins AML BitCoin: Carlos De La Guardia Appointed Vice President for Latin America of NAC Foundation, LLC

Former Panamanian Ambassador to the United States Joins AML BitCoin

Carlos De La Guardia Appointed Vice President for Latin America of NAC Foundation, LLC

Las Vegas, NV – September 6, 2017 – NAC Foundation, LLC, creator of the digital currency AML BitCoin, announces today the appointment of former Panamanian Ambassador to the United States, Carlos De La Guardia, as the Vice President for Latin America. In this senior role with the company, Mr. De La Guardia will guide Latin American expansion and development of the AML Bitcoin, which launches internationally on October 1, 2017.

AML BitCoin is unique in the digital coin world. As its first name signifies, "AML" BitCoin holds the distinction of being the first digital currency which features patent-pending 'Anti-Money Laundering' algorithms into its structure. Unlike the vast number of anonymous cryptocurrencies which have been issued in the past few years, AML BitCoin has built-in features preventing use by terrorists and the criminal underworld. AML BitCoin's compliance with existing anti-money laundering and KYC laws has stirred intense excitement in the coin from governments all around the world.

"Few governmental affairs leaders have the reach and influence that Carlos De La Guardia commands," says Marcus Andrade, Chief Executive Officer of NAC Foundation. "We are very excited that a man of his stature has joined our team, to expand AML BitCoin's use in Latin America."

De La Guardia has vast experience working with high ranking members and decision-makers in Latin America's private and public sectors. Before becoming an Ambassador, he held top executive positions at Fortune 500 companies: Bristol-Myers Squibb, Johnson & Johnson Company, and TetraPak. His successful business career ran parallel to his meteoric rise in the political and diplomatic world. De La Guardia has a Master's Degree in Business with a focus in Marketing Strategy, and brings contacts and knowledge of immense value to AML BitCoin's operations and objectives in Latin America.

De La Guardia has already commenced negotiations with a number of Latin American governments, including Panama, to incorporate the AML BitCoin in their payment and finance structures.

"Like many in the public affairs field, I have been watching the rapid expansion of bitcoin and alternate coins with great interest; but also with some concern," said De La Guardia. "The prospect of criminals and terrorists using digital currencies to breach our financial systems has created immense anxiety among governmental leaders in Latin America. On the one hand, they don't want their people denied an opportunity to participate in what is certainly the next wave in the technology revolution – yet on the other hand, they cannot open the doors and permit bad actors to break the laws of these nations. AML BitCoin solves both problems, and that's why I have enthusiastically joined them to share this amazing solution throughout our hemisphere."

For interview requests and more information, please contact Lisa Helfer Elghazi via Email: lisa.helfer@amlbitcoin.com or Phone: 646-373-9946. Or, Michael Arlen via Email: michael.arlen@amlbitcoin.com or Phone: 310-266-9991.

If you're supposed to be launching a token sale In less than a week then why is there still NO information whatsoever on how to do so or what the process will be? Why are wallets still not available? And why does the website state mining will be done via POS with .03% returns but in this thread you've mentioned X15 algorithm mining will be possible. I want to buy as many AML as I can but you've yet to release any information on token purchases and it's supposedly less than a week away. Am I the only one here that's having trouble with this?

And what documents specifically will be needed to purchase AML tokens? I understand KYC policy so what documents do I need to have on standby waiting for the sale? Just state issued ID? SSN? Proof of residency and utility bills? I want to be prepared with what I need to proceed as soon as possible.

Last week we started working with a large marketing company to streamline the events, press, marketing and sales. We have build a whole new website with all the information about the sale, documents you may need and a new whitepaper. Also a new wallet will be available. This website is nearly ready and I will post when it's online.

I will give some info that could help:

To buy AML Tokens you do not need to identify. You can purchase these on amltoken.com with Bitcoin and Ethereum. The AML Token wallet will be available to download here too.

When a user exchanges his/her AML Token for AML BitCoin:

"The user must possess two forms of their current government-issued identification documents, such as a passport and a driver's license."

"The user must have or create a certified digital identity in association with DTN (The Digital Identity Trust Network)"

The current online AMLBitcoin.com still shows old information that was valid to Atencoin. New specifications will be released soon.

Below article was posted but then removed for it needed editing. Also the time of what was mentioned will change to 12:00AM San Francisco, 1 Oct
It will likely soon be reposted.

Building A Better Bitcoin

The bitcoin world has seen explosive growth over the past few years, but nothing like what's coming this Saturday night. ~~At midnight Hong Kong time~~, AML Bitcoin, a new form of bitcoin, will be launched and, if the hedge fund and digital coin investor worlds are to be believed, it will quickly rival the original bitcoin and potentially overtake it. David Mata, managing director of Silicon Valley hedge and venture capital fund Block Bits Capital typifies the excitement building in the investment community: "We have a diverse portfolio that includes digital currencies, but this is the one we are watching. We plan to take a huge early position. It's the cryptocurrency equivalent of handing Mark Zuckerberg a check while he sits in his dorm room coding Facebook."

That's a fantastic article. You've also still provided us NO information whatsoever about how the sale this Saturday will be conducted or how we should prepare to participate. Will the initial AML tokens be ethereum based? ECR20 tokens? How will contributions be accepted? What about the question regarding many people not having passports. Please. Some information about the actual sale itself.

Thanks everyone that offered their services by DM or by posting. I will contact some of you soon. Also for bounties we must first launch the new platform so that we can give out AMLTokens. You will be able to trade these on the exchanges just like any other altcoin.

For information on the Tokensale please stand by until the website comes online. That will likely be tomorrow.

Can you list the technical advantages of the coin in a few sentences?
As I see it basically any cryptocoin has the feature that can be described as decentralized banking, correct me if I'm wrong.

I think they kind of planted the technical advantage right in the name. Anti Money laundering Bitcoin. The coin is completely and 100% AML and KYC compliant so it can be used and taxed as legal currency. There will sadly most likely never be a world where hospitals accept BTC. I can see real estate transaction and cars but I like to pay a hospital with Bitcoin. AML Bitcoin is fully legally compliant (at least they claim to be) so in theory it could be used as a legal means of tender for everything from banks, hospitals, government, etc. To my understanding that's the intended purpose.

You said it right there 😊

Basically all your banktransfers, creditcard transactions, online payments, it's all already paying while being in compliance. It's not so difficult, we have transacted like that all our life and usually you can know who you are transacting with. Only now you will be able to do it with cryptocurrency.

If you want to purchase more coins you need to follow the ICO procedure like anyone else. Your existing Atencoins and your newly purchased AMLTokens will be joined and swapped for the new AMLBitcoin.

People will have 6 months to swap their AMLTokens for AMLBitcoins. In the meantime AMLTokens are available to trade with on exchanges even without identification and like other altcoins.
It is only when people decide to exchange their Tokens to AMLBitcoin where people will need to identify themselves with the requested information.

After 6 months the AMLToken blockchain will no longer be supported.
